THE YOUNG GRAMMARIAN.
I know a young grammarian,
She's only three feet high,
And yet she conjugates a verb,
With far more sense than I.
For when I ask her "Did you go?"
Her words by logic sent
Are heard in answer: "Yes, I goed."
(She never says "I went.")

She's only four, yet with the verbs,
She never has a doubt;
The ones that have a crooked twist,
She promptly straightens out.
And rules the grammar sharp reverse
Get shook both swift and rude—
She never, never says "I did,"
She always says: "I goed."
With be and was and being been,
With see and saw and seen,
With go and went and going gone,
With meaning, meant and mean—
I often wish that at the start,
Some four-year-old Hortense,
Had good to making grammar rules,
And dood the thing with sense!

ATTEMPTED ROBBERY

Residence of Squire W. H. Rice Ransacked Friday Night

Friday night the country home of Squire W. H. Rice near Lewisburg was forcibly entered and ransacked from cellar to garret by six men who wore masks on their faces.

There were no menfolk about the premises at the time, Mr. Rice being in this city arranging for his campaign on the morrow.

No attempt was made to molest the members of the family, and after turning everything topsy-turvy in their hunt they departed as quietly and quickly as they had appeared.

As soon as possible the neighborhood was apprised of the wanton outrage and in no time men armed with guns and pistols arrived and a search was made for the outlaws, who in the meantime had made good their escape.

It is evident they were after money and being aware of the fact that the Primary came off the next day they had concluded that Mr. Rice would be very apt to have considerable money about his person or in the house.

It is perhaps fortunate that he was not at home, else murder and robbery would have been committed. Their numbers indicate that they were prepared for both.

When Mr. Rice drove up to his home at a late hour he was very much surprised to find his house surrounded by a body of armed men, and when apprised of the meaning of it all his wrath and indignation knew no bounds.

It is an awful thought that there are men in a community, and in our daily walks in life perhaps we touch elbows with those who are ready to commit robbery, murder and arson, yet the above incident is undeniable evidence that such are in our midst.

It is said Mrs. Rice recognized one of the men by the clothing he wore. It is hoped they will yet be run down and punished.

No Poison in Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

From Napier (New Zealand) Herald—Two years ago the Pharmacy Board of New South Wales, Australia, had an analysis made of all the cough medicines that were sold in that market. Out of the entire list they found only one that they declared was entirely free from all poisons. This exception was Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, made by the Chamberlain Medicine Company, Des Moines, Iowa, U. S. A. The absence of all narcotics makes this remedy the safest and best that can be had; and it is with a feeling of security that any mother can give it to her little ones. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is especially recommended by its makers for coughs, colds, croup and whooping cough. This remedy is for sale by all druggists.

Court's Opinion of Case From the Mason Circuit Court

In reversing the suit of Joseph Weaver v. M. B. Easton, taken up from the Mason Circuit Court, the Appellate Court, by Judge Hobson, delivered the following opinion—

First—Office and Officer—Arrests—Disorderly Conduct—By Section 3497 of the Kentucky Statutes arrests may be made for drunkenness or disorderly conduct at any time without warrant, and where one in making an arrest acted in the line of his duty and in good faith and upon reasonable grounds he is not liable on his bond.

Second—Same—Where one was arrested on a Sunday and placed in Jail and kept until Monday morning when a warrant was issued as was the custom under the rules to place persons in Jail when arrested on Sunday and hold them until Monday, the Jailer was warranted in receiving the prisoner without a mittimus, as the statute authorizes persons arrested to be placed in the County Jail until taken before the Police Court.

A. D. Cole was the Attorney for appellant and Thomas R. Phister for appellee.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surface.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.
